

A Sunrise Prayer

Today, I ask you Great Spirit to help me grow a little more.
I ask my angels to help me grow toward my highest and best good.

May I keep my heart center open to accept the love flowing down from the Universe.

May I be able today and every day to share that love in a way that may be needed by another.

May I understand that I bring all people and events into my life to assist in my learning.

May I know and feel the love from those that care about me.

May I know my place in this world and learn how to share my gifts.

May I be balanced and at peace in my heart.

I am so grateful to be in this world right now.
I am so grateful for the gifts the Earth brings to us.
Thank you for the sunshine.
Thank you for this day.